Omega Hydraulic Diggings - Wikipedia

The Omega Mine is located just west of Forest City along Oregon Creek. Of all the mines in the area we have visited the Omega has the least amount of history out on the web. Basically all I could find is that it was a large, very famous mine, that's it. The adit is open to exploration but flooded so we only peeked inside.

The Omega Hydraulic diggings was near the Alpha Diggings. These sites were named by gold miners in the 1850s. Neither site exists today because the hydraulic diggings overwhelmed the town-sites and they both disappeared. The Omega site is visible from the Omega Rest area as visitors look down the Yuba River Canyon at the hillsides below.
