The New Calvinism Considered | Denny Burk

A young Reformed pastor, Jeremy Walker, has written a 126-page book called The New Calvinism Considered. Jeremy's critical yet irenic probe into the movement contains both positive and negative aspects. He defines the movement, commends the positive, and warns of dangers. In defining the movement, New Calvinism is rather difficult to nail down.

Book Review: New Calvinism Considered | Current

The New Calvinism is the subject of Jeremy Walker's new book The New Calvinism Considered: A Personal and Pastoral Assessment. Behind that rather austere title is a very accessible book that does exactly what the title claims: it shines a spotlight on this theological movement and considers where it has come from, what it has accomplished and where it may be going in the future.

Christian Church in the early years of the 21st century, young, restless and reformed, or 'New Calvinists', are among the most significant. Jeremy Walker acknowledges the difficulties of tackling this subject, which he approaches with insight, kindness and some caution.

The New Calvinism Considered (Walker) - Reformation ...

The New Calvinism movement presupposes a Calvinistic doctrine which is often used interchangeably with Reformed doctrine. Calvinism remains the definitive term associated with the teachings of the Reformation. Although John Calvin never organized and named a theology after himself, his name remains synonymous with the doctrines of grace.

The Danger of Homogeneity. New Calvinism has largely been led, shaped, and defined by Caucasian, American, upper middle class men. For that reason it inevitably has the flavor and the biases of Caucasian, American, upper middle-class men. But at the same time the movement has diversified and is drawing in Christians of many nations, many ethnicities,...

The New Calvinism: Areas of Weakness - Tim Challies

The New Calvinists have a Calvinism that is closer to Edwards's thought than Calvin's. But I would add, a misunderstanding of Edwards. In 1962 Earl Pope wrote a PH.D. dissertation with the title "New England Calvinism and the Disruption of the Presbyterian Church in 1837.
